

'ITI workers' stir an ode to resilience'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ITI workers, who were allegedly terminated from service, reached the hundredth day of their protest on Thursday. Coincidentally, a fact-finding mission launched to understand the inception of their issues released a report on the events pre-termination and thereafter.

The report released by a team of researchers, professors and activists, investigates the plight of the workers as a whole, going into detail the issues faced by them, before they were terminated. "We feel that the struggle of the ITI workers in the face of such adversity is an ode to resilience and claims making for Constitutional rights, fairness, inclusion, and citizenship. Struggles of industrial workers and farmers cannot be disconnected; they are both part of a broader political-economic trend that is concentrating wealth and power upwards into the hands of elite corporate management, both public and private," the team said.

The report included a timeline of events, starting from the announcement of the first lockdown on March 24, 2020, and includes details such as the workers joining a union, preceding their termination, to demand backpay as well as being fired for expressing solidarity with the farmers' protests occurring at the time.

Following the release of the report, the fact-finding team expressed solidarity with the workers. According to the report, the ITI management had refused to meet with the team and have thus still declined to reinstate the workers, despite multiple requests and order from the Regional Labour Commissioner to do so. Keeping this in mind, the team has demanded that the Labour Ministry penalise the company for failing to obey orders.

KSPCB gives nod, get ready to pay fee for waste mgmt

Solid waste management can be source of revenue generation for the State Government, says Pollution Control Board

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

IN the Economic Survey of Karnataka for 2021-22, in the chapter - Waste Management and Opportunities - the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) has supported the idea mooted by BBMP to charge a user fee for garbage collection and management.

The KSPCB stated that solid waste management (SWM) can be a source of revenue generation for the State Government, if implemented properly.

The report stated: "If 2,399 TPD of organic waste generated in Bengaluru is composted, it can produce 218 TPD of compost, corresponding to revenue of Rs 11 lakh per day. Also, 3,344 TPD of wet waste generated in urban local bodies, other than Bengaluru limits, can produce around 300 TPD of compost corresponding to an income of Rs 15 lakh per day. Only 55 per cent of wet waste is converted into compost in the state and there is a lot of scope to improve."

The report also stated that Karnataka generates about 3,237 TPD of dry waste, out of which, 1,114.8 TPD is recycled and 215 tonnes is converted into refuse derived fuel (RDF) and 118 TPD is sent to cement kilns for co-processing in cement industries, as a source of energy only 44.7 per cent of the dry waste generated is recycled.

"There is a need to evolve a policy for circular economy for SWM to replace the linear economy of 'take, make, use and dispose' and reduce environmental burden. Imposition of user fee is expected to ensure proper segregation and enhance income to ULBs for development of infrastructure for integrated waste management facility that reduce environmental burden of unscientific disposal of solid waste. Economic earnings from segregation of waste and converting it into useable materials like compost, energy etc is expected to boost the incomes of ULB," the report noted.

KSPCB Member Secretary Srinivasulu told TNIE that charging the cess or fee should also be extended to construction and debris waste. At present, the BBMP is working on collecting charges for wet waste management. He suggested that instead of asking the builders or property owners to manage the C&D waste, the BBMP should charge them for management and scientific disposal.

UKRAINE RETURNEES FACE QUOTA HURDLE

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

STUDENTS who returned from war-torn Ukraine to Karnataka are facing a major dilemma and are anxious about their future.

Their dilemma: If they are allowed to study in medical colleges here, they are worried about the quota system and the fee they might have to pay in addition to what they have already paid for courses in Ukraine. On the other hand, universities in Ukraine are offering students to continue their studies through varsities in neighbouring countries like Germany, Poland and Hungary. But the students, who have just returned home after going through the ghastly experience of being trapped in a war-zone, fear their safety in a foreign country. They are torn between having to shell out huge sums as fee here or face sheer uncertainty ahead if they go abroad again. Abhishek R, a 19-year-old first-year medical student from Zaporizhzhia State Medical University and resident of Magadi, who returned home from Zaporizhzhia, shared his anxiety and ordeal with TNIE.

"When my friends and I were in Hungary, the embassy there told us they would make efforts to shift us from Ukrainian universities to Hungarian varsities if we send them a mail of approval. The university authorities in Ukraine initially told us to stay back, but as the situation worsened, they told us to return home and study online till it improves. They also told us they were in talks with universities in other countries like Germany, Poland and Hungary to shift us there. Now we do not know what to do," he said. His friend, who returned to Bengaluru, said that he has heard the Indian government is keen on helping students, who have returned, to complete their education here, but he is worried about the quota system.

"I am a general category student. Although my NEET rank was good, I did not get a seat here because of this. We're also worried about getting a seat here at the same rate," said the Bengalurean.

Ensure smooth conduct of exams for hiring Asst Profs: Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH examinations for the appointment of assistant professors due to take place, Higher Education Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan held a meeting with various officials to prevent any untoward incidents.

The minister met with deputy commissioners, superintendents of police and other officials, from the seven districts where the examinations are scheduled. The examinations will take place in Bengaluru, Mysuru, Mangaluru, Shivamogga, Dharmavaram, Belagavi and Kalaburagi between March 12 and

16. On Wednesday, the minister instructed the officials to prevent any kind of malpractice and to maintain transparency. In addition, he also asked that candidates to stick to the designated dress codes and has announced that a separate helpline has been created to deal with any sort of irregularities.

Precautions are being taken for the upcoming examinations for the appointment of assistant professors for government first-grade colleges. Totally, around 33,000 students will be writing the exams, with 1,409 centre invigilators, 82 observers, 82 custodians, and 164 special vigilance squads deployed. A total of 1,242 seats will be filled following the examinations.

The deputy commissioners and superintendents, who are acting as examination officers in their districts, have also been cautioned by the minister to ensure free and fair examinations.

High Court allows student booked under POC SO Act to appear for B.Com exam

BENGALURU: In a rare instance, the Karnataka High Court has permitted a 19-year-old student, who has been jailed in a case -- registered under the IPC as well as the POC SO Act -- which is under investigation, to attend his B.Com annual examination, commencing from March 15, 2022. Meanwhile, the jail authorities have also been told to permit the petitioner's parents to provide him with required books. Observing that the future of the student cannot be jeopardised, just because the case against him is pending, irrespective of the merits of the matter, Justice V Srishananda passed the order that necessity has arisen to make suitable arrangements for him to appear for the examination. Disposing the plea filed by the petitioner-student seeking bail, the court directed that the Chief Examiner/Head of the Examination Centre should make suitable arrangements for the petitioner to write the exam in a separate room and proper security should be deployed by the jail authorities at the cost of the petitioner, who should accompany the latter till the examination centre, and after completion, he should escort the petitioner back to the prison the same day. Channamanakere Achukattu police had apprehended the student and handed him to judicial custody on January 20, 2022, following complaints that he had allegedly seduced a minor girl. ENS

PETER VIDAL

11th March: Today I am looking at Aquarius, a sign which is associated with endless possibilities. The reason is that the sign is often pictured pouring water out of a large vessel, representing the spreading of different ways of thinking and doing things. What's often needed in addition is a sharp focus and set of goals.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr 20)

One important indication today may not be felt for weeks to come. A very unusual development is about to take place in your work or in a partner's work. A threatened upheaval may be averted at the last moment, thanks in part to some slippery foot-work.

TAURUS
(Apr 21 - May 21)

Your current situation is tough but favourable. It therefore looks very much as if it will be you who is able to face up to certain challenges, even to raise the stakes in a personal matter. You operate best as part of a team, so you may have to keep other people's sweet-and on your side.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)

Having established a definite rapport with a new friend or colleague, you must decide where to pursue things now. What is absolutely certain is that it is up to you to take the initiative, so no covering in comes, please. You'll benefit from an generous and open-hearted approach.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)

If I could draw your attention to the long-term pattern for a change, I'd like to point out that although you seem to be going nowhere fast at the moment, conditions will improve before long. In other words, you can sit it out and wait until circumstances alter.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug 23)

Your spirits are generally high, and will remain so as long as Jupiter is gazing upon you with his generous and sensitive gifts. Yet, unless you institute a routine which is both regular and designed to suit your very particular needs, you will experience bouts of exhaustion.

VIRGO
(Aug 24 - Sept 23)

Don't expect discussions to go like clockwork and take any frustrations in your stride. Ironically it could be you, even though you're normally so clear and efficient, who is now responsible for all those many minor misunderstandings. Tread carefully!

LIBRA
(Sept 24 - Oct 23)

Close partners really will appreciate your quieter side at the moment, so you could be in luck. The Moon, though, is maintaining at least some sense that you should be more sociable and get out and about more often. You never know - someone new could make you feel a whole lot better.

SCORPIO
(Oct 24 - Nov 22)

You are right to maintain high standards, if only because you have a better idea than most people of what needs to be done. But don't stick rigidly to inflexible ideals if they're not appropriate. You've got to seek to the best, and that might mean changing some of your cherished ideas.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov 23 - Dec 22)

Rather than resist pressures to perform or do something you don't want to, you have a chance to experiment. If you wish, then you may take a deep breath, jump in at the deep end and encounter a whole new world. But will you like what you find? Time will tell!

CAPRICORN
(Dec 23 - Jan 20)

There is a very slight risk of opening up old wounds, largely stimulated by other people who may suddenly remember past grudges or resentments. It is, however, good that such memories are dealt with now. The sooner you get to grips with such questions, the better off you'll be.

AQUARIUS
(Jan 21 - Feb 19)

If you want to stay on the right side of partners, do make it clear that you're neither trying to stir them up nor hold them back. Indeed, a general hands-off approach might be the best way to handle those tricky relationships. Why not try to keep your emotional distance - and a detached perspective?

PISCES
(Feb 20 - Mar 20)

Once again Mars' energetic influence comes into play. Don't allow any adverse criticism to unnerve you or make you alter long-term plans and arrangements. Stick to your course, gathering whatever support you need. It's amazing how much credit you'll be able to call on it.

Rural areas see more Covid-19 cases

Population density plays big role; Difficulty in ensuring CAB also likely reason, say experts

CHETANA BELAGERE
@ Bengaluru

WHILE Covid-19 cases in Karnataka have come down drastically, the state war room's statistics for the last 14 days show that the rural parts of the state are contributing more positive cases to the daily count than the urban areas in that district. For instance, while urban areas of Belagavi and Tumakuru districts saw 61 and 17 fresh Covid-19 cases respectively, in the last two weeks, the number was 108 and 103, respectively, in the rural areas.

Normally, Covid-19 numbers are more in urban areas than rural parts because of the higher population density. Experts,

BALANCE TILTED
District	Rural	Urban
Mysuru	116	106
Belagavi	6	108
Tumakuru	64	77
Dakshina Kannada	79	47
Kodagu	103	17
Ballari	73	43

(Covid cases in the last 14 days)

however, say there could be multiple reasons behind this pattern. "Karnataka is seeing a downward trend in daily infections, so it is difficult to make any comparison. Just because Covid numbers are less in urban areas, it does not mean that the spread of infection is low. Many people do not get tested in urban areas," reasoned Dr Shashikumar U, Professor and Head of General Internal Medicine, Dr TMA Pai Hospital, Udupi.

He explains that whenever a person in a rural area has fever or runny nose, either ASHA workers or the primary health centres are informed and the individual is tested.

Kodagu District Health Officer Dr Venkatesh attributes the higher number of Covid cases in rural areas to difficulty in imposing Covid-appropriate behaviour. "Masking and social distancing are major concerns. The reason for more cases in rural areas could be due to flouting of Covid-appropriate behaviour and also crowding at village markets," Dr Venkatesh added.

Health experts feel that SARI and ILI cases in urban areas go unnoticed and absolute numbers are coming down drastically in the state. "There may be some random cases where there could have been a cluster. For instance, if one member of a family tests positive, then the entire family and the neighbourhood may have caught the virus," an expert told TNIE.

Meanwhile, the positivity rate over the last seven days in state has been hovering around 0.40%. However, the figure in eight districts is still slightly above the state average.

AFTER 2 HEART OPS, TEEN GETS VALVE WITHOUT SURGERY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

FOR the first time in Karnataka, a 17-year-old boy who had earlier undergone two open heart surgeries, got a non-surgical valve replacement at Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Research Hospitals in Bengaluru. Transcatheter Aortic Heart Valve (TAVR) - MyVal was performed on Karthik, from JP Nagar in Bengaluru, for free.

The boy's case was complicated and risky, demanding a third open heart surgery. "In the past 10 years, we had already performed two open heart surgeries - the first in 2012 for an infection on the right side of his heart, which had destroyed the valve leaflet, and it was corrected," said Dr Jayaranga-nath M, Professor of Paediatric Cardiology, who performed the surgery with his team.

A year later, Karthik came back with a leak in the same valve, and this was addressed in 2017 surgically by use of a graft extracted from a cadaver.

Two years later, the leak worsened and again needed repair. He came to Jayadeva Hospital again with complaints of palpitations, the doctors explained. On evaluation, he was found to have rhythm abnormality due to a defect in electrical conduction in the heart and underwent a Radiofrequency Ablation for increased heart rate. But his ordeal didn't end there -- Karthik continued to have leakage in the tricuspid valve, resulting in heart failure, and was unable to perform any physical activity.

Karthik, who is now in Class 10, complained of severe fatigue and swelling in the legs. A third open heart surgery was impossible, explained Dr Manjunath CN, Director of the hospital. "He lost his father five years ago. His mother works as a cook and his sister studies in Class 10. We decided that we will replace this valve by non-surgical method," explained Dr Manjunath.

The method involves insertion of a 19mm tissue valve called 'MyVal', and the entire surgery, which costs around Rs 15 lakh, was done for free with contributions of Rs 6.5 lakh from donors and the rest by the Institute and company.

Justice P Krishna Bhat sought response from the department, while adjourning the hearing for two weeks. The petitioner has questioned the circular issued by the department, stating that all existing government and private schools should install fire extinguishing equipment within six months, and that school buildings be kept free from inflammable and toxic material. If storage is inevitable, they should be stored safely.

BOMMAI: KARNATAKA WILL BE NEXT CONGRESS-MUKT STATE

Says results to have 'positive impact' on BJP in state, will help it to come to power in 2023

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH the BJP making a clean sweep in four of the five state Assembly elections, Karnataka Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai took a jibe at the Congress, saying that the party's debacle in the polls shows that it is losing its existence in the country.

"The next state which is going to become Congress-mukt is Karnataka. The Congress is sinking and the place where it is going to sink is Karnataka," he said at the BJP office in Bengaluru after the election results of Uttar Pradesh, Punjab, Goa, Uttarakhand and Manipur were being announced.

The results in Uttar Pradesh and other states will have a "positive impact" on the BJP in Karnataka as this will boost the morale of party workers and the BJP will emerge stronger, he said and expressed confidence that they will come back to power in 2023.

The CM noted that the BJP's performance in the polls to these states has increased the responsibility of the party's Karnataka unit. "We have tabled a pro-people budget in Karnataka and have directed our officials to start working on implementing the budget announcements. Files will be ready by April-end," he said.

This has to reach out to every person and that's where party workers have to work, even more effectively from now on, Bommai said adding, "We will take our works to the people and win elections in 2023. We will build a stronger Karnataka."

Pointing out that the results shows that direction where the country is heading, he said this is a victory of the common man. "The people trusted the Prime Minister and his policies. Modi's programmes in the last seven years, like Kissan Samman, Atma Nirbar, Ujjwala, has reached people. People who benefited from these initiatives will not vote for any other party but the BJP," he added. "Modi also carries weight. Neither the US nor China could talk to both the Russian and Ukraine presidents, but Modi did."

Referring to goodies being offered by Congress to its workers to enroll more members into the party in Badami Assembly constituency, Bommai said this is nothing new to the grand old party.

Bommai, BSY to tour state after session

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, along with former CM B S Yediyurappa and Union ministers, will tour the state after the ongoing session ends on March 28, to strength the party from the grassroots. Disclosing this on Thursday, the CM said, "We will build a stronger party. Wherever we have a base, we will make it stronger, and wherever the party has no presence, we will build a base." Earlier in the day, Bommai told media persons that Prime Minister Narendra Modi will be visit Karnataka in April.

Of the five states, the Congress was in power only in one -- Punjab. There too, they lost. This indicates that the party will be wiped out from the country shortly

BJP may emulate UP model to tap backward votes

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

THE BJP's resounding victory in Uttar Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Manipur and Goa, bucking the anti-incumbency factor, could have a big impact on Karnataka. The BJP government, headed by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai who recently presented a popular budget to win over all sections of society, may emulate the UP strategy to win over the most backward communities.

Party insiders and political strategists say the social engineering of upper castes, non-Yadavs, most backward communities and sub-sects among Dalits had paid off for the BJP and added that it may try a similar strategy in Karnataka to return to power on its own. Party leaders admit that they have started working on a winning formula by targeting the untapped segments among the most backward castes and Dalits who have traditionally been with the Congress.

Though the BJP has sway over the Veerashiva-Lingayat community and has built a strong rapport with several mutts over the last 10 years under Lingayat strongman B S Yediyurappa, it could not win over the most backward and microscopic communities who comprise 12 per cent of the population, as per the Balkrishna Sidram Renke Commission.

Although, the dominant Kuruba Community and others are rallying behind Opposition leader Siddaramaiah, the BJP keen to contain his influence. It has accommodated veterans like K S Eshwarappa and also MTB Nagaraj and Byrathi Basavaraj in the ministry, and announced Kanaka Dasa hostels for OBCs. The BJP also plans to reach out to Ediga, Uppara, Achari, Balija, Nayana Kshathriya and other communities who comprise about 45 per cent of the population among backward classes.

Sources said that the RSS wants the BJP workers to reach out to microscopic and backward communities who comprise 12 per cent of the population, but are not accommodated in power sharing in democratic institutions.

Former Backward Classes Commission chairman and Congressman C S D warkanath, however, felt that the RSS and BJP's plans to tap the microscopic communities will not yield benefits as they are with the Congress. Due to their own insecurities, smaller communities vote en bloc if they are approached or convinced, he reasoned.

Fence-sitters in BJP may snub Cong

DEVARAJ B HIREHALI
@ Bengaluru

WITH the BJP scoring a win in four out of five state assembly elections, the results are likely to have their own impact on Karnataka politics -- party-hoppers will now stop to rethink about quitting the party ahead of the 2023 assembly polls.

As the results have yet again sent a clear message that Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah can win assembly polls with the state leadership of their choice -- in Karnataka's case, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai -- they may repose faith in the BJP national leadership.

It will come as a setback to the Congress, which lost 13 MLAs to the BJP in 2019 to help former chief minister B S Yediyurappa form the government, but expects them to backtrack. "Already, our leadership had held a round of talks with four Bengaluru MLAs and three others, including Anand Singh. But now, they may take a call and wait to see how things pan out," remarked a Congress leader.

"Some MLAs who were with the JDS and had switched to BJP, were ready to join the Congress, presuming the anti-incumbency factor against CM Bommai government will affect them as well in the run-up to the assembly polls. But now, despite feeling let-down by Bommai on some issues, they may not quit the BJP," he explained.

Recently, Tourism Minister Anand Singh had visited KPCC president D K Shivakumar at the latter's residence, creating ripples in political circles.

On the other hand, seasonal turncoats within the Congress are also thinking of switching to the BJP, and it all depends on how the party leadership draws up a counter-strategy to check the BJP wave in Karnataka, a source told TNIE.

Buoyed by Punjab win, AAP sets sights on K'taka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH a thumping 92-seat win in Punjab, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) has registered its first significant victory outside of Delhi, and is raring to replicate it in other states.

Prithvi Reddy, party convener for South India, spoke to TNIE about the party's plans for Karnataka. "We will contest all 224 seats in the 2023 polls. We will get the candidates prepared in three months for elections. We will give them time to go door-to-door and convey the AAP style of politics to people across the state. We will soon identify the candidates who can contest."

AAP has turned the government school system into model schools in Delhi, where education is free. Their free water and power schemes are also a big hit in Delhi, where people save on utility bills and especially on hefty school fees. This can be replicated elsewhere too, the party hopes.

Former AAP MLA candidate Renuka Vishwanathan, a retired IAS officer, has been running an AAP Mohalla Clinic for the past 13 months with her pension money in Shantinagar. Speaking about what the party needs to do in Karnataka, she said many of the AAP's policies and programmes implemented in Delhi can be started in Karnataka too.

"I am putting together a paper on what needs to be done in Punjab. AAP is going to end the influence of organised criminals in politics in every form," said Renuka. She said Karnataka and Punjab figure on the list of 13 large states of the country, and what can be done in Punjab can be largely replicated in Karnataka as well.

Prithvi Reddy, who contested the assembly elections last time, said, "Until now, people told us we were doing good work as a party, but no one expected us to beat traditional parties. Now we have crossed that barrier. We will start doing good work in Punjab, which we can showcase to the people of Karnataka. It will add to the goodwill."

Direct recruitment for Intelligence Wing

Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said there is a need to strengthen the intelligence wing of the police department and the government is thinking of going in for direct recruitment of intelligence officers, instead of posting them on deputation.

CHEER FOR STATE

CM hints at GST relief extension

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday informed the Legislative Council that the Union Government is considering the request for extending the Goods and Services Tax (GST) compensation to the states by another three years and is likely to take the decision soon.

"The Centre is seriously looking into it and we may get good news very soon. We are confident of succeeding in our efforts for the extension of the GST compensation," Bommai said indicating that the Centre is likely to accept the states' request for extension of GST compensation.

Bommai said he had already discussed it with the Centre and had also taken it up with Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman during her visit to Karnataka earlier this week.

Responding to MLC Srikanth Gowda's question (on behalf of KA Thippeswamy), Bommai said that the GST collection in 2018-19 was Rs 52,167.20 crore, in 2019-20 it went up to Rs 57,522.74 crore, in 2020-21 it was Rs 64,527.57 crore and in 2021-22 (up to February end) it was Rs 70,108.68 crore.

On the tax devolution and grants, the CM stated that Karnataka got Rs 35,895 crore (tax devolution) and Rs 14,727 crore grants in 2018-19; Rs 30,919 crore (tax devolution) and Rs 19,983 crore grants in 2019-20 and it was Rs 21,694 crore (tax devolution) and Rs 16,287 grants in 2020-21.

On the GST compensation and loans, Bommai informed that Karnataka got Rs 10,754 crore in 2018-19, Rs 14,496.73 crore in 2019-20, Rs 26,196.25 crore in 2020-21 and Rs 25,267.29 crore in 2021-22 (up to February end).

The CM informed the Council that the state is getting the GST funds that it is entitled to and now they are asking for the extension of the compensation period.

Now, departments can't shield officials accused by ACB

From now on, it will be difficult for senior officers to protect juniors in their departments who come under the scanner of the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB). Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday said prosecution sanction will be given automatically if the ACB finds a prima facie case against the accused official. When the ACB conducts a preliminary probe and seeks permission for prosecution of the accused officials, the departments constitute committees consisting of secretaries and deputy secretaries to look into such requests and decide on exonerating the officials, he said. "If that is the case, why do we need the ACB? What is the use of it if we don't give permission for prosecution that was sought by the agency after a preliminary probe? There were many such instances in the past and I am looking into them. That apart, I have given a direction to do away with such committees. The ACB recommendation should directly come to us and we will decide about it. If the ACB finds a prima facie case, it should automatically get permission for prosecution. I have put that system in place to put an end to vested interests," he said. In the last five years, the ACB raided 371 government officials in 320 cases and recommended action against officials in 223 cases.

IN B'LURU MEGA MEET TO SEEK REPEAL OF STATE FARM LAWS

MYSURU: The Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha has decided to hold a massive farmer convention in Bengaluru on March 21, to put pressure on the State Government to repeal the three farm laws like the Centre. At a press meet on Thursday, sangha state president Badagalapura Nagendra various organisations, including students and dalits, have extended their support to the protest call. "The Prime Minister Narendra Modi-led central government announced the repeal of three farm laws, but the State Government has not rolled back the APMC (Amendment) Act, Karnataka Land Reforms (Amendment) Act and the Karnataka Prevention of Slaughter and Preservation of Cattle Act, which are against the interest of farmers. To draw the attention of the government, we are holding the people's assembly as well as a Bruhat Bengaluru Chalo from March 21 to 23," he said. ENS

Forest land in Sakleshpur given to resort operator

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

MUSHROOMING of resorts on the fringes of forest areas has always worried the Karnataka Forest Department, which has to keep the buffer zone and forest lands safe from their colleagues in the Revenue Department and private organisations.

Now, forest department officials allege that staffers of the revenue department have handed over forest land in three parcels to a big resort operator in an unauthorised way, with the latter also having started sending safari vehicles into the forests towards Sakleshpur. Agitated by the trespass, forest officials are working on filing a case against the revenue department and the resort owner in the Karnataka High Court.

The department has already started trial court proceedings against the resort and revenue department. It has also filed an FIR against the resort proprietors.

A senior forest department official told TNIE, "As per 1920 land records, the area is notified as forest land under Section 4. The revenue department officials, without seeking permission from us, handed over the land on Survey Number 92 in Achhanahalli, Moikangadda. As per Supreme Court orders, the forest lands cannot be diverted for any other purpose without their approval."

The official stated that in 2015, 5.24 acres of land on Survey Number 92 was given away by the revenue department, then 5 acres in Survey Number 157/2 in 2017, and 8 acres in Survey Number 153 in 2021.

The forest staffers mention that even after slapping notice on the resort owner, the establishment continues to operate. They also state that they have seized resort vehicles trespassing into forest lands, but yet they continue to enter. Tourists have also been caught trekking into the forest without permission. Even as the Hassan DC has said that he would inquire into the matter, the forest department points out that this is not the only case. "There are nine other resorts which have got land in a similar manner, apart from several individual homes and properties," he alleged.

HC allows girl to end 31-wk pregnancy

If the baby is born alive, the hospital will offer the best medical treatment, court orders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

THE Kerala High Court on Thursday permitted a 10-year-old rape survivor, who is around 31 weeks pregnant, to terminate her pregnancy. The court directed SAT Hospital in Thiruvananthapuram to do the needful and added that the medical termination should be done within one week.

The hospital has to assume full responsibility to ensure that the baby, if it is born alive, is offered the best medical treatment available in the circumstances so that it develops into a healthy child.

The court declared that if the parents of the newborn are not willing to or not in a position to assume the responsibility of the baby, then the state government will have to take full responsibility of the baby and offer it all medical support and facilities as may be reasonably feasible.

Allowing the petition filed by the mother of the girl seeking permission for her daughter to undergo medical termination of her pregnancy, Justice P V Kunhikrishnan observed, "It is an unfortunate case in which a 10-year-old rape victim is pregnant and the medical board says that there is an 80 per cent chance of the newborn surviving. The alleged culprit is her own father. If the allegation is correct, I am ashamed of and, of course, the entire society should bow the head (sic).

I am sure that the long arm of our law will punish the perpetrator."

The court said since the would-be mother is only 10, there are chances of medical complications to her. "Considering the entire facts and circumstances of the case, according to me, this is a case in which this court should invoke the jurisdiction keeping in mind the Almighty," said the court.

The medical report stated that the girl is 31 weeks pregnant and the baby is in breech position. Hence, delivery through an operation is needed with the associated anaesthesia and risks. At 30 weeks and six days, with an expected weight of 1.557 kg, there is an 80 per cent chance of the baby surviving. It was also stated in the report that there is a risk of neonatal morbidities and need for NICU care and also adverse neuro-developmental outcome for the newborn baby.

Owaisi's popularity fails to translate into votes

MD NIZAMUDDIN @Hyderabad

The UP public has decided to give power to the BJP; I respect the decision. I thank AIMM's State president, workers, members and the public who voted for us. The results were below our expectations

DESPITE AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi pulling in huge crowds during the months of high-voltage poll campaign prior to UP Assembly elections, the Hyderabad-based party failed to translate it into votes. With just over 0.4 per cent of the vote share and its failure to win even a single seat of the 97 candidates it had fielded, the results have dealt a blow to the morale of the party workers back in Hyderabad, some of whom blamed the obsession of Muslims with secular parties.

Asaduddin's campaigns have widely covered and targeted constituencies with a sizable Muslim population of over 30 per cent from the electorate, but voters have failed to get connected with the Hyderabad-based politician. He could not convince the UP voters in spite of his promise in his typical Decani Urdu of protecting them from the saffron affront and to address the issues engulfing the community.

Responding to the people's verdict, Asad said, "The UP public has decided to give power to the BJP; I respect the decision. I thank AIMIM's State president, workers, members and the public who voted for us. Our efforts were quite a lot, but the results didn't come as per our expectations. We will work hard again," he said.

The injuries were so severe that two of the injured had to be treated in the ICU. As many as 50 cops were deputed in Freedom Park as a number of organisations were staging a protest. 2 women, 4 others held for sexual assault

Bengaluru: The HSR Layout police on Thursday arrested six people, including two women, on charges of sexually assaulting a minor girl. The accused have been booked under Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act. Police said that the prime accused is a woman tailor, and the victim used to come to the latter's house to learn tailoring. "The accused and her friend, also a woman, used to bring their male friends to the accused's house. The victim would then be offered juice laced with sedatives. After she fell unconscious, the men would sexually assault her," police said.

Cabbie misbehaves with woman, arrested

Bengaluru: A cab driver was arrested by Indiranagar police on Thursday, for allegedly misbehaving with a woman passenger. The accused, K N Manjunath (32), is a resident of Rajanakunte. The woman stated that she had gone to a party in Indiranagar on Wednesday. While returning home, her male friend, who had consumed alcohol, started vomiting and was unable to drive his car. GPS-based disaster mgmt model lauded

BOSKY K HANNA @Bengaluru

The Karnataka State Natural Disaster Management Centre (KSNDMC) on Tuesday presented its disaster management model based on GPS at the Regional State Disaster Management Authority and Institution Conclave which was appreciated by the central government.

The department showed how it has prepared a mitigation plan on disaster management by geo-tagging and recognising all sources from where assistance can be obtained at the district level while it has also prepared and listed the vulnerabilities as well as the strengths of Karnataka in the natural disaster maps.

Manoj Rajan, Director, KSNDMC told TNIE, "It is the first time when GPS technology is being used. The Centre appreciated the effort in planning how things can be managed at the local level. We are working on preparing a disaster management plan for every district. The central government has shown interest in implementing the same at the national level," he said.

He said that list of places to call for help will be digitised and put on single platform.

This will be most useful in natural disaster management, he said.

Geo spatial technology will help in pre-and post-disaster management. In pre-disaster, it will help and work in mitigation, prevention and readiness. In post-disaster it will help in response and recovery.

Odisha may host G20 leaders

HEMANT KUMAR ROUT @Bhubaneswar

IF everything goes as per plan, Odisha may host G20 leaders later this year or early next year. Heritage town Konark and Bhubaneswar are likely to be the venue for the ministerial/working group meets of the global summit that is being hosted for the first time in India.

As the G20 presidency is set to be held in the country from December 1 this year to November 30, 2023, culminating with the main summit at New Delhi, several states including Odisha are being roped in to organise the pre-summit meets.

The coastal state has become a preferred venue for the commitment and hospitality it has already showcased by successfully hosting several international sporting events, including the Hockey Men's World Cup in 2018.

Sources said more than 180 meetings will be held in the run up to the main summit during the period at ministerial and officers-level in different states to showcase Indian diversity and ethnicity.

While the Ministry of External Affairs is undertaking an exercise of mapping the cities for physical verification of hotels and other facilities, a team of officials of the Ministry's logistics committee has arrived here to study the feasibility.

The five-member team on Thursday visited Konark and some star hotels in Bhubaneswar. A senior official of the State government said the Ministry officials are here for scouting of possible venues to host G20 ministerial/working group meetings in and around Bhubaneswar.

BJP STEAMROLLER AND EMERGENCE OF THE AAP FACTOR

The semi-final election in five states is as much about the ability of the BJP to secure a repeat mandate in four of them as it is about the rise of the AAP as an alternative force in the opposition. While parties like the Trinamool and TRS have been fancying their chances of leading an opposition coalition in 2024 despite their influence not extending beyond a state, it's only the AAP that has swept itself into power in Punjab as spectacularly as it did in Delhi less than a decade ago. For the Congress, the Delhi defeat was so humiliating that Sonia Gandhi refused to give the AAP a seat at the joint opposition meetings last year despite the Trinamool's prodding. Now the AAP has vacuum-bombed Punjab, sucking away loads of Congress votes and digging a political graveyard for a plethora of biggies.

Punjab is also a wake-up call for the Gandhi family that runs the Congress. Rahul and Priyanka decided very late in the day to replace the CM and the tumult that followed manifested in gangrene as it showed its inability to manage the post-surgical phase. In contrast, the BJP changed its CM thrice in a year in Uttarakhand and yet managed to post a resounding victory. Priyanka messed up Punjab by choosing maverick Navjot Singh Sidhu over Amarinder Singh but fought well in UP. However, it was Rahul who gave further evidence of his inability to lead. It's now up to the party to choose its leader wisely.

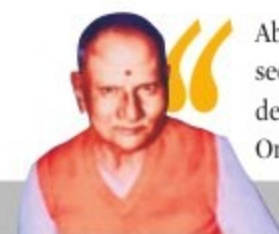

As for the BJP, its sizable victories in UP and Uttarakhand and scraping through in Manipur and Goa smoothened the road for the Presidential elections and showed the sway Narendra Modi continues to have over the voters. Its creditable performance even in the Jat belt of western UP despite perceived farmer anger was particularly significant. And Yogi Adityanath became the first UP CM to retain power in decades. That development, law and order, free rations, doles to farmers, affordable housing, etc., mattered more to the electorate, particularly women, than the widespread havoc during Covid and communal polarisation showed the BJP understood the pulse of the people better. Yet, the emerging AAP threat would have given the otherwise rejoicing BJP a throbbing headache.

DILEMMA FOR CENTRAL BANKS AMID INFLATION

Wars often cause oil price shocks, which in turn end up in recessions. History is proof, as can be seen from the Iran-Iraq war and others. But some believe the impact of the ongoing Russian-Ukraine war and the resultant oil price surge could be more than fatal. The Covid-19 pandemic seized the global economy by its throat, and even though recovery has begun, it's uneven and fragile. A needless oil price surge now will only add to the headache of policymakers and consumers. Until now, households have been tolerating inflation, which despite the bleating of central banks, isn't transitory and oil's relentless surge touching $139 a barrel early this week threatens to make us relive the days of demand destruction. Most central banks have been facing the predicament of hiking rates, or pausing to prop up growth for a while, but the fortunes of economies squarely hinge on the consequences of their move this time.

Asia, being a net importer of oil, is among the most vulnerable. Russia is the world's largest oil exporter and any sustained price increases will flutter the doves. In South Korea, inflation has already breached its central bank's target due to soaring energy prices, while Thailand saw its inflation hit the highest since 2008 last month as the nation struggled with rising food and energy costs. The Philippines and Indonesia too are on the edge, making the role of Asian central banks pronounced.

India's headline inflation has been hugging the RBI's upper tolerance band of 2-6% for a long time, but the central bank isn't budging citing tepid private consumption. Chances are that the current oil price surge may not last long and the cost will hopefully drop to $100 per barrel sooner or later. One encouraging bit is that Russian supplies haven't stopped, perhaps because the country too realises that such a move will be self-destructive and of course catastrophic for the rest of the world. Until then, one can only hope to get by taking comfort in the fact that our inventories will last until May, by which point price correction should happen.

Above all, you love yourself, you want yourself secure and happy. Don't be ashamed of it, don't deny it. It is natural and good to love oneself. Only you should know what exactly you love

The BJP has expanded its voter base by appropriating the wider class constituencies composed of women, small farmers and the poor. Compared to 2017, 10% more women have voted for it

MODI IS SLOWLY CHANGING GRAMMAR OF INDIAN POLITICS

A K VERMA

Director (Hon.), Centre for the Study of Society and Politics, Kanpur

The Uttar Pradesh electorate created history by voting a party back to power after 25 years. The victory of the BJP government led by Adityanath Yogi is massive as it transcends the 2/3rd majority mark and slightly exceeds the previous vote share of the party in 2017. For an incumbent government to do that, braving anti-incumbency, is creditable indeed. The rival SP and its leader Akhilesh Yadav also did very well as its vote share rose from about 28% to 32%—a gain of 4%—despite his handing the campaign without Mulayam Singh Yadav, his father, and a revolt in the family: many members shifted to the BJP including Mulayam's daughter-in-law Aparna Yadav. So, while Akhilesh lost, the vote share of both the main parties has risen.

In this election, the nature of political contestation was bipolar: at one end was the coalition of the BJP, Apna Dal and Nishad Party; at the other, the SP, Rashtriya Lok Dal, Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party and smaller outfits. Hence the contest was stiff and many were unsure about the outcome of the polls. But one needs to ask why the BJP won. Why in spite of price rise, unemployment, stray cattle issue, and anger during Covid, especially over the plight of migrant labourers, did people not move away from Yogi? To answer this, one has to understand a transformation in the politics of India in general and UP in particular where Varanasi happens to be the parliamentary constituency of Narendra Modi, the prime minister.

Since the arrival of Modi, UP has seen three major shifts: one, from exclusionary to inclusive politics; two, from identity to aspirational politics; and three, from caste to class politics. And all this has been done within the rubric of providing law and order and development, and taking care of the welfare of the people. The two caste parties—SP and BSP—had demonstrated a sectional approach to politics and welfare that injected nepotism, corruption and inefficiency besides leveraging the criminals who ruled the roost. The zero tolerance of Modi on corruption has had its trickle-down effect, though slowly and in spite of annoying politicians of all hues, including those in the BJP. The tough stand of Yogi on law and order using strong-arm tactics, even at the risk of earning him the nickname of bulldozer baba, has brought a welcome change in the state.

Covid disturbed the developmental tempo, but Yogi's innovative One District One Product scheme has greatly helped poor artisans whose goods are now getting exported, earning them some money. That had the effect of not only providing them relief, but also attracted outside investments to the state. Covid disturbed the developmental tempo, but Yogi's innovative One District One Product scheme has greatly helped poor artisans whose goods are now getting exported, earning them some money. That had the effect of not only providing them relief, but also attracted outside investments to the state.

But Modi-Yogi had more in their kitty. They provided financial security by putting money under various schemes in the Jan Dhan accounts of the poor through DBT, health security through Ayushman Bharat, crop security through Fasal Bima Yojana, and social security through better law and order.

It appears that Modi is slowly changing the grammar of politics. This seems to target three major classes that cut across all castes and religions: women, small and marginal farmers, and poor subalterns. From Ujjwala to Beti Bachao Beti Padhao to toilets, etc., he seems to be addressing women. Similarly, he is equally attending to the marginal farmers, putting ₹6,000 in their accounts annually, and giving them various other reliefs that could enhance their income. The very fact that the protest movement allegedly led by so-called farmers from western UP has not been able to harm the BJP in the western UP speaks volumes about the satisfaction of cultivators with the Modi-Yogi initiatives to better their lives. In fact, many sugarcane mills that were closed in that part have been restarted, new ones opened and all arrears due from previous regimes largely paid. Moreover, the Jats in western UP have also not come out of the 2013 riot syndrome as they still are in a legal trap, whereas they allege that Muslims were let off by Akhilesh at the behest of then minister Azam Khan. That's the reason that the election study conducted by our centre shows that as compared to 34%, this time 71% Jats have voted for the BJP. And the third class, the poor subalterns, had been quite upbeat about getting free ration for the last two years and they confess that during Covid, the government did not allow them to be hungry and actually served good food in abundance. So, the BJP as a political party under the Modi-Yogi leadership has expanded its narrow upper caste, middle class, urban traders voter base by appropriating the wider class constituencies composed of women, small farmers and the poor. Our study shows that as compared to the 2017 Assembly polls, 10% more women have voted for the BJP.

One very significant factor is the 'Modi voter' in addition to the committed party supporter and the floating voters. In the 2017 Assembly polls, the BJP got 41% votes in UP whereas in the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, the party got 50%. That clearly shows that the 9% additional votes were simply for Modi. In our study, we have found that 11% voted for the BJP only because of Modi. That's an X-factor that has bailed out the BJP in UP. Modi has been playing smart politics through his Mann Ki Baat where he does not talk about politics at all. That connect, which the PM has developed all over the country, has earned him this segment that we call Modi voters.

What however surprises us is the total marginalisation of Mayawati. It is very surprising that even many of the Jatav Dalits, her core supporters, have voted for other parties now. Our study shows that earlier 85% Jatavs were voting for Mayawati; this time that has crumbled and only 40% have voted for the BSP. The rest have shifted to the BJP largely and some to the SP. That is a bad omen for the future of her Dalit politics as many now believe that the BJP is taking good care of them. That's why most of the Dalit MPs and MLAs from reserved constituencies are in the BJP's kitty.

The Congress has been decimated. It is doing cosmetic and seasonal politics in UP and seems to be without any direction, ideology, organisational base at grassroots and leadership. It's unfortunate that such a grand old party has allowed itself to be totally marginalised in the recent polls not only in UP but also elsewhere, especially Punjab.

However, there are some problems that stare the Yogi government in the face and let's see if after ensuring law and order, developing infrastructure, encouraging artisans and bringing in many development plans, the government is geared to attending to them too quickly. Obviously, people's aspirations are high and that is also a danger signal.

One very significant factor is the 'Modi voter' in addition to the committed party supporter. We have found that 11% voted for the BJP only because of Modi. The connect he developed through Mann Ki Baat earned him this segment

LESSONS AND TRENDS FROM THE U.P. ELECTIONS

SHILP SHIKHA SINGH

Assistant Professor, Gini Institute of Development Studies

The thumping victory of the BJP in UP puts aside the narratives of double anti-incumbency against the double engine government. In fact, brand Yogi and augmented brand Modi are reflected in the increased vote share of the BJP compared to the last Assembly elections. Apart from breaking the anti-incumbency factor, this election would be remembered by analysts and the public for the many lessons and trends that unfolded. The emergence of beneficiary-centred development politics, increased significance of women voters, the emergence of Muslims and Yadavs as the neo-untouchables, the invisibilisation of the Dalit agenda and the preponderance of the virtual political sphere defined the election.

The BJP is known for its ability to generate new political constructs. The entire campaign of the party revolved around a new class of beneficiary. The poorest of the poor constituted the backbone of this class and it seemed to have thrown its weight behind the BJP in this election. Beneficiary as a political identity is yet to be established but in this election, it did help the BJP checkmate the political alliance of its prime opponent, the SP. A promise of freebies and direct cash transfers are prime components of this development narrative. It is a political benefit that creates a perception of care and benevolence without giving any political agency. The tall claims of multiple freebies by all political parties further legitimised this trend. Freebies as the desired economic benefit is the easiest way to create a spectacle of development and the BJP mastered it.

The way parties appealed to women remains significant in this election. From election tickets to reservation in jobs to a greater share in government schemes and freebie distribution, women remained at the centre of political campaigns of almost all big parties. Polling booths were thronged by women of all castes, classes and religions. While all parties attempted to address women, we see that it is the BJP that succeeded in pulling them towards itself. The BJP's campaign of safety and security, a riot-free state, distribution of rations, home, gas cylinders and other benefits in their name seems to have struck a chord with the women voters.

The one significant result of the bipolar contest between the BJP and the SP-RLD alliance was the sidelining of Dalits. They have around a 21% share in population and remained a significant player in the politics of the state for almost two decades. While Dalit voters were on the radar of almost all parties, their agenda seemed to be missing from manifestos. The BJP tried to appease them by highlighting their beneficiary status in a lot of government schemes while the SP simply relied on the winnability score against the saffron party to attract Dalits. The Congress was seen making a direct contact with Dalits by reaching out to those in need prior to the actual election campaign. The increasing atrocities against Dalits in the state, the educational, social and cultural disadvantage that they have in accessing benefits, the dying occupation of many of these communi-

One significant result of the bipolar contest between the BJP and the SP-RLD alliance was the sidelining of Dalits. While they remained on the radar of almost all parties, their agenda seemed to be missing from manifestos. ... Until an alternative vision of democracy, participation and development is created, it would remain impossible to break the BJP's hold ties and the discrimination they face was not addressed by any party in the election. The BSP, which once championed the cause of Dalits, largely remained silent and made no attempt to either consolidate its support base or raise their concerns. In the absence of the BSP, the Dalits seemed to have preferred the BJP over the SP that remained their arch-rival during the heydays.

We also saw a forceful consolidation of Muslims voters behind the SP. While this benefited the party by adding to its winnability perception, it also kept the communal sentiments of Jats and Dalits alive, especially in western UP. The communal polarisation that started before the Muzaffarnagar riots could not be addressed by the farmer's movement and we see a large number of Jats, Lodhs, Sainis and Dalits voting in favour of the BJP. The hijab controversy during the election also seemed to have accentuated the communal bifurcation of voters in western UP. Likewise, the inter-community differences between the Yadavs and other OBC communities, and between Yadavs and Dalits, worked against the SP. The alliance could only partly reap the benefit of OBC leaders who joined its bandwagon just before the election. The image of Yadavs as a community of goons was propagated by the BJP. And the party succeeded in taking this image to the ground through its aggressive campaign. The Muslims and Yadavs, the vocal BJP critics, became the new political untouchables in the state.

Due to the ban on election rallies, this poll was primarily fought through the media in the domain of the virtual political sphere. This election was unique in terms of the technology-centric reach. People were hearing their leaders on television, YouTube and other social media platforms. There was an almost one-sided dissemination of information from the leaders and parties that went on to create perceptions. While it worked against smaller parties, this gave a huge advantage to the BJP, which has the strongest media presence. There is no comparison to the BJP when it comes to passing information through the media. The hold of upper classes and castes, the key supporters of the BJP, over information and technology also explains the ease of the party in expanding its reach and influence over social and other media.

The BJP would go on to set records in elections due to its ability to feel the pulse of the voters and, more importantly, mould the public perception. The frame is set by the BJP and other parties only play within that frame, even when that puts them in a disadvantageous position. Until an alternative vision of democracy, participation and development is created, it would remain impossible to break the BJP's hold.

AAP can fill vacuum

The poor show of the Congress is due to the lack of leadership and internal feuds. Selfish individuals were allowed to grow and experienced leaders were sidelined. The gainers are of course the BJP, which has increased its hold and vote share, and the AAP, which can fill the opposition space vacated by the Congress.

Mohan Daniel, Thiruvananthapuram

Positive vote for BJP

Yogi Adityanath has retained power in the most populous state for the second consecutive term, the first to do so in nearly four decades. People have started thinking beyond Mandal and Mandir and have voted for a corruption-free and development-centred governance. The usual opposition rhetoric of calling the BJP communal and retrograde has found no takers.

Priyanka's failure

The biggest loser in the elections to the five states is undoubtedly the Congress, which was already reeling from the exit of some of its most credible leaders. The projection of Priyanka Gandhi as the party's face in Uttar Pradesh has come a cropper and the Congress continues to be nowhere in the picture in India's most populous state. The party, which is still under the Gandhis, has its finger firmly on the self-destruct button.

Sidhu and turmoil

In Punjab, state Congress president Navjot Singh Sidhu's overbearing attitude and the turmoil in the Congress led to the party's loss. The people of the state have seen AAP boss Arvind Kejriwal's performance as chief minister of Delhi and hence chose his party.

Drug addiction in Kerala

A native of Wayanad district has admitted to killing his 24-year-old son who was reportedly a drug addict and constantly caused trouble at home. Drug addiction is a reality in several homes in the state and parents get to know about it rather late. The disgusting habit is fast spreading in Kerala, as happened earlier in states like Punjab and Telangana. This incident is a wake-up call for the government and it should take strong action against drug peddlers.

PM says end of dynasty politics is near because people are favouring development

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

IT has often been said that election won in Uttar Pradesh paves the way to power at the Centre. PM Narendra Modi reiterated that on Thursday, by saying that the outcome of the 2024 Lok Sabha polls has already been sealed following BJP's win in UP.

"I would like to say that after the 2019 election results, some political pundits had said that 2017 results had decided the results of 2019. I believe this time also, they will say that the results of 2022 have decided the results of 2024," Modi said, adding that parties surviving on the roots of dynastic politics will get wiped out.

Thanking women and youth for BJP's victory in UP and three other states, Modi described it as 'jeet ka chauka' (the winning four). He said they solidly supported BJP in UP and the other states. Addressing BJP workers at the party headquarters, he said the results have put a seal of approval on BJP's pro-poor governance.

The PM took a dig, albeit obliquely, at Congress and SP, saying that the sunset of dynastic politics is in sight. He said that he has nothing against any family, but he is concerned for democracy. "Voters have shown what is bound to happen to dynasty politics."

He also said that certain people (read parties) were trying to halt probes by independent investigative agencies into corruption cases by questioning the agencies' impartiality. Terming such attempts unfortunate, Modi said persons involved in corruption and surrounded by scams have come together and putting pressure on the agencies.

"These people keep finding new ways. They don't even trust the judiciary. If investigation is initiated, they start putting pressure on agencies."

Continuing his attack on opposition parties, Modi said citizens worked hard in every possible way during the Covid-19 pandemic, but certain elements kept questioning everything, including the vaccination drive. "When the entire world lauded India's efforts on vaccination, some people raise doubts. It is also unfortunate that even when thousands of Indian students were evacuated from war-hit Ukraine, there were attempts to disregard that."

Expressing gratitude to voters, the PM said he will not stop until he makes sure that the benefits of government schemes reach everyone. Lashing out at previous non-BJP governments, he said a lot of announcements were made in the name of providing benefits to the poor, but nothing was done. "We have brought in good governance and improved the delivery system with transparency."

He also said UP had given many PMs to the country, but it was the first time that a sitting CM won the election. "In UP, after 37 years, a government has returned to power." He said this has happened because BJP worked on development rather than doing caste-based politics.

He also said that the war in Ukraine has become a matter of concern for the entire world and India advocates that the problem should be solved through deliberations and dialogues.

Hindutva mascot emerges as mass leader with ear to ground

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

YOGI Adityanath, the Mahant of Gorakshnath Peeth and UP CM, has many firsts to his credit. He was the youngest MP to have represented Gorakhpur, commencing his political journey in 1998 when he was 26. Having represented the constituency five times in Lok Sabha, the man in the saffron robe was entrusted the task of heading the most crucial state in Hindi heartland in 2017.

Adityanath's politics doesn't blend with many on the political landscape. He has created his own league with the a heady mix of Hindutva and welfare. The results of 2022 show he is a mass leader who understands the people's pulse. His stature as an astute politician keeps him far ahead of many in his own party. He has proven his ability to win elections. The turning point in his political career and UP politics came when he was appointed CM to the surprise of pundits who were skeptical about his administrative and governance skills.

After assuming charge, he made immediate impact. After setting up anti-Romeo squads and implementing loan waivers for around 86 lakh small and marginal farmers, he created ripples by introducing an anti-conversion law and an act for recovery of damages against the destruction of public property. This was done in the aftermath of anti-CAA protests.

He kept focus on implementing Central welfare schemes like houses and toilets for all. He successfully worked on eradicating Japanese Encephalitis which used to devour many lives in Gorakhpur and surrounding region. His crackdown on crime syndicates, sprucing up law and order and creation of a vote bank of beneficiaries did the trick in UP. His big test came in 2019 when he had to take on the SP-BSP combine in Lok Sabha elections. He passed the test with flying colours, winning 64 seats out of 80.

His leadership skills were at stake again in 2022. He got tremendous support from Narendra Modi. And in the end, Adityanath proved him right.

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

TRAVERSING through different phases of age and earning distinctions of being the youngest parliamentarian at 27 in 2000 and UP's youngest CM at 38 in 2012, Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav seems to have finally come of age despite a series of electoral defeats since 2014.

At 47, Akhilesh, who led his party to one of the most crucial electoral battles of his life, has come out of the shadow of his father and SP patriarch Mulayam Singh Yadav and established himself as the undisputed leader of socialist movement in UP and his party as the main opposition in UP's political landscape.

The results of 2022 might not have led Akhilesh to the throne of UP, but he fought to accomplish the mission which always was considered to be herculean. He exhibited political maturity to beat the mighty BJP in its own game by cobbling up strategic alliances with smaller caste-based parties.

Akhilesh left no stone unturned to shrug off the tag of being a 'one family party' and denied tickets to family members. He tried to discipline partymen to shed the baggage of hooliganism, which his party is still carrying, and it reflected in the polls. He drew massive crowds in rallies, but convert that into votes.

He reached out to party veterans personally, projecting inclusiveness. Akhilesh even mended the discordant notes in the family by shaking hands with uncle Shivpal Yadav and making him contest the polls on SP ticket. After crushing defeats in 2017 followed by 2019 Lok Sabha elections, went back to the drawing board and drafted the roadmap for 2022. He replicated the BJP caste calculus and struck tie-ups with smaller caste-based parties rather than going with Congress and BSP.

However, the strategy to induct big leaders from BJP ahead of the polls flopped. Swami Prasad Maurya and Dharam Singh Saini lost. Neither did the alliances bring dividends in the form of non-Yadav OBC votes. Even the farm protests did not hit BJP as much as expected. The saving grace for Akhilesh, fighting his first Assembly election, was that he won by more than 60,000 votes from the Karhal seat in Mainpuri.

INTERVIEW

People of UP have buried the dynastic politics and also politics of caste and religion by ensuring victory of BJP and allies

Yogi Adityanath,
UP Chief Minister

'TIME FOR RIVALS TO INTROSPECT'

With the ruling camp retaining power in UP with a clear mandate, state BJP president Swatantra Dev Singh tells Namita Bajpai that the victory belongs to the deprived and downtrodden sections of the society.

How do you rate the victory? I see this as a victory of the people of Uttar Pradesh. BJP earned it through extreme diligence of the leadership and, of course, workers who put in their blood and sweat to make this possible. We got immense love of people.

What went behind this? We attribute this to the deprived and downtrodden sections of the society. It is the victory of women power and 'motherhood' as the 'other half' of the population stood by us and supported us by breaking family barriers. We got support from all sections. They showered their blessings on us acknowledging our work and commitment to provide them a better life. The reason are a hard working and committed CM in Yogi Adityanath, guidance of PM Modi and clean and effective governance of five years during which we ensured development of everyone irrespective of caste and community.

Your take on the strategy of Samajwadi Party which posed a tough challenge?

Samajwadi Party does politics of caste and community. It's evident from the alliances they formed. They drove defection in all major parties and inducted leaders to win their caste vote but the public has responded to them in true spirit. Turncoats like Swami Prasad Maurya and Dharam Singh Saini have bitten the dust. It is time for SP to introspect. They did not play the role of a constructive opposition in five years. They did not step out of the comfortable confines.

What message has UP given to the opposition?

People have rejected the politics of dynasty and convenience. People have given a strong message to those who did the politics of Twitter from the comfort of their AC rooms and enjoying frequent vacations abroad.

Heartfelt thanks to each and every worker, supporter, leader for being alert and active at the counting centers! 'Sepoys of democracy' return only with a victory certificate

Akhilesh Yadav, SP

Vote of people is paramount in a democracy. Our workers, leaders worked hard and fought on issues of people. But we couldn't convert our hard work into votes

Priyanka Gandhi, Cong

For me, the results are very surprising. After such massive inflation, if this was the public's mandate, what is the definition of public welfare & social justice?

Harish Rawat, Cong

BJP's grand win in UP is victory of unshakable faith of poor and farmers in PM's welfare schemes

Women leaders hail UP's 'MY' model

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THERE are several factors that helped BJP retain power in Uttar Pradesh. Many women leaders of party attributed the victory to the MY (Modi-Yogi) model of governance. "It was the MY (Mahila-Yuva) equation under the MY model of governance that has worked wonders," said Komal Vashishtha, one of the senior women leaders of Delhi BJP.

Elaborating on the reasons behind high turnout of women voters, another Delhi BJP spokesperson Sarika Jain said, "The SR (safety, ration) factor prompted women to vote for the BJP, especially from Phase 4 in UP."

She added that they had memories to erase.

"The women voters have not forgotten the days when they were afraid of venturing out after 7 pm in UP during SP's rule." She said that for this reason, women supported BJP.

Seema Kumari, dancing in jubilation at the BJP headquarters, said she was robbed of all her belongings in broad daylight, near Lucknow during SP's rule. Villagers near Gorakhpur have not forgotten what happened to me.

How can we allow those days to return?" Sanyukta Keshari, Delhi BJP leader, said the MY model of good governance has replaced the MY (Muslim-Yadav) model of SP chief Akhilesh Yadav. "The days of appeasement politics have ended. History has been created by BJP in UP."

Hooliganism tag punctures Samajwadi cycle

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

TRAVERSING through different phases of age and earning distinctions of being the youngest parliamentarian at 27 in 2000 and UP's youngest CM at 38 in 2012, Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav seems to have finally come of age despite a series of electoral defeats since 2014.

At 47, Akhilesh, who led his party to one of the most crucial electoral battles of his life, has come out of the shadow of his father and SP patriarch Mulayam Singh Yadav and established himself as the undisputed leader of socialist movement in UP and his party as the main opposition in UP's political landscape.

The results of 2022 might not have led Akhilesh to the throne of UP, but he fought to accomplish the mission which always was considered to be herculean. He exhibited political maturity to beat the mighty BJP in its own game by cobbling up strategic alliances with smaller caste-based parties.

Akhilesh left no stone unturned to shrug off the tag of being a 'one family party' and denied tickets to family members. He tried to discipline partymen to shed the baggage of hooliganism, which his party is still carrying, and it reflected in the polls. He drew massive crowds in rallies, but convert that into votes.

He reached out to party veterans personally, projecting inclusiveness. Akhilesh even mended the discordant notes in the family by shaking hands with uncle Shivpal Yadav and making him contest the polls on SP ticket. After crushing defeats in 2017 followed by 2019 Lok Sabha elections, went back to the drawing board and

in defeat

Noida: Rashtriya Lok Dal (RLD) president Jayant Chaudhary said he respects the people mandate. His party had formed an alliance with SP. The RLD had fielded candidates in 33 seats in western UP and eight of them won. "I respect public opinion. Congratulations to all the winning MLAs! It is expected that they will work according to the trust of the people. Our workers have worked hard, and the struggle will continue!"

Russian attack on hospital draws outrage

3 killed, 17 wounded in Mariupol maternity hosp attack; no headway on discussion for ceasefire

People wait for a train to leave Kramatorsk for western Ukraine | AP/PTI

MARIUPOL

A RUSSIAN airstrike on a Mariupol maternity hospital that killed three people drew outrage on Thursday, with Ukrainian and Western officials branding it a war crime. As talks to reach a broad cease-fire failed, emergency workers renewed efforts to get vital food and medical supplies into the besieged cities, and to get traumatized residents out.

Ukrainian authorities said a child was among the dead in Wednesday's attack in the crucial southern port of Mariupol. Another 17 people were wounded, including women waiting to give birth, doctors and children buried in the rubble.

Images of pregnant women covered in dust and blood dominated news reports in many countries, and brought a new wave of horror at the 2-week-old war sparked by Russia's invasion, which has killed thousands of soldiers and civilians, driven more than 2 million people from Ukraine and shaken the foundations of European security. Bombs also fell on two hospitals in a city west of Kyiv on Wednesday, its mayor said. The World Health Organization said it has confirmed 18 attacks on medical facilities since the Russian invasion began two weeks ago.

As the war entered its third week, Western officials said Russian forces have made little progress on the ground in recent days. But they have intensified the bombardment of Mariupol and other cities, trapping hundreds of thousands of people, with food and water running short. Temporary cease-fires to allow evacuations and humanitarian aid have often faltered, with Ukraine accusing Russia of continuing their bombardments. But Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said 35,000 people managed to get out on Wednesday from several besieged towns, and more efforts were underway on Thursday from towns and cities in eastern and southern Ukraine — including Mariupol — as well as the Kyiv suburbs.

The Mariupol city council posted a video Thursday showing buses driving down a highway, with a note saying that a convoy bringing food and medicine was on the way despite several days of thwarted efforts to reach the city.

Several rounds of talks have not stopped the fighting, and a meeting in a Turkish Mediterranean resort between Lavrov and his Ukrainian counterpart Dmytro Kuleba failed to yield much common ground. In their highest-level talks since the war began, the two sides discussed a 24-hour cease-fire but did not make progress, Kuleba said. He said Russia was still seeking "surrender from Ukraine."

"This is not what they are going to get," he said, adding that he was willing to continue the dialogue. French President Emmanuel Macron and German Chancellor Olaf Scholz called for an "immediate ceasefire" in a phone call with Russian President. Lavrov also said Russia was ready for more negotiations but showed no sign of softening Moscow's demands. He said Putin could meet with Zelenskyy but only after further negotiations about Russia's broader grievances. AP

Russian official scoffs at casualty reports

Antalya: Russia's foreign minister is dismissing concerns about Russian military attacks on civilians, including on a maternity hospital, as 'pathetic shrieks' from its enemies. In the Russian government's first public comment on Wednesday's strike on the hospital, Lavrov didn't deny or shy away from responsibility for the attack. He claimed the site had earlier been seized by Ukrainian far-right radical fighters who were using it as a base. Even though there were many images of civilians wounded in the attack and the city council said a child was killed, Lavrov claimed all the patients and nurses were moved of the hospital before the assault. Market recovers on NDA win; risks still elevated

Analysts caution, focus would shift back to Russia-Ukraine talks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

INDIAN stocks continued their recovery for a third straight session amid the weekly options expiry and the NDA's impressive win in four out of five assembly elections. However, analysts caution that with state elections done and dusted, focus would shift back to the Russia-Ukraine talks and crude oil prices.

The Nifty and Sensex gained 1% and a half each, closing at 16594.9 and 55464.39 respectively on Thursday. Heavyweights like HUL, Tata Steel, Grasim, SBI and JSW Steel led the rally, rising between 3% and 5%, while Coal India and ONGC were among the top losers.

However, FIIs continued to be sellers, offloading shares worth a provisional ₹1,981 crore, even as DIIs purchased a provisional ₹946 crore of shares.

Citing continued FII selling, analysts said the fate of the recovery rests on a speedy resolution of the Ukraine conflict and that a prolonged war could raise the uncertainty, putting the market back into a bear grip.

"We believe investors still need to be vigilant because the uncertainty of geopolitical standoff still looms large," said Aishwarya Dadheech, Fund Manager, Ambit Asset Management.

"Commodity prices are least likely to see a secular downturn even after war subsides because sanctions will continue to disrupt the global supply chain. Unless sanctions are withdrawn, the global markets can remain volatile in the coming months and India will not remain insulated."

After rising over 7% on Wednesday on hopes of breakthrough in the Ukrainian crisis, European indices again began to correct. The German DAX was down 2.8% while the French CAC traded down 2.6% at the time of writing. Dow Jones futures were lower by 1%, indicating a weak opening.

Investment bank Morgan Stanley warned that oil prices could play the spoil-spurt to corporate earnings revival.

While revising its Sensex target lower to 62000 from 70000 for the year end, MS cut its corporate earnings growth forecast by 8% for FY23 amid the sharp rise in oil prices, which it said could fuel inflation and cast a shadow on how India Inc performs over the months ahead.

Meanwhile, the US recorded the highest annual rise in retail prices in four decades at 7.9% in February as the Ukraine conflict stoked energy and commodity price inflation.

Such high inflation in the US could force the Fed's hand to take harder than estimated rate hikes.

Exit not 1st option for Amazon: Sources

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

AMAZON, which is in discussions with the Future group to try and resolve their 18-month-long dispute out of court, would not be considering an exit as its first option, multiple informed sources told The New Indian Express.

Rather, they would consider other options like investing in the group's crown jewel FRL first, if a workable revival plan is presented as part of the ongoing negotiations.

"An exit whereby Future group pays them (Amazon) what they invested in Future Coupons plus something over and above is not the first option, it may come down the line, if at all," said one of the sources.

"The first option on the table is to discuss a possible revival plan for FRL, basis of which Amazon could consider an investment in FRL."

Samara Capital, an Amazon backed PE firm, earlier offered to infuse ₹7000 crore into FRL.

As this falls significantly short of the ₹17000 crore that the Future group owes to its lenders, it's possible that the e-commerce giant could consider "upping the ante," if FRL's assets "remain intact" or if the retailer presents a "feasible" revival plan, added another source.

An Amazon spokesperson was not available for comment till the time of writing.

To be sure, Future group is working on consummating a ₹24713-crore deal with RIL even as the negotiations with Amazon are under way.

Reliance has already taken over some of the stores it had sub leased to Future group, as per a contractual agreement, after the latter was unable to pay rent for the same.

The Supreme Court gave Future group and Amazon 10 days through March 15 to find a solution to their long standing dispute.

Meanwhile, Future group has convened a meeting on April 20 to get shareholders' approval for the RIL deal and on April 21 with the creditors for the same.

In 2019, the US e-commerce giant had invested ₹1500 crore to pick up a 49% stake in Future Coupons, which gave it a 3.58% stake in Future Retail limited.

Amazon has opposed the 2020 deal between FRL and RIL citing that the same violates certain contractual agreements it had while buying stake in Future Coupons.

The Competition Commission of India, which approved Amazon's stake purchase in Future Coupons, has suspended its own order on the ground that it suppressed information about the scope and purpose of the deal.

Petrol, diesel prices may not be hiked with room to cut excise duty

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

FUEL prices in the country may not be hiked as is being feared since the government has room to further cut excise duty on petrol and diesel without impacting the revenue target from tax on these two items.

This means citizens may not immediately bear the brunt of boiling crude prices in the international market. If one goes by the excise duty collected by the government, it has already mopped up ₹30,17,46 crore from April 2021 to January 2022.

In 2020-21, the government collected ₹38,9662 crore excise duty tax in the entire year. If it is compared with this year's excise duty collection, it is only ₹87,916 crore short.

"An excise cut would absorb a fair chunk of the lagged adjustment required in fuel prices, reducing the inflationary impact of the spike in crude prices," said Aditi Nayar, chief economist, ICRA Ratings.

The price of crude oil in the international market has been on a boil ever since Russia started military operations in Ukraine. The Brent Crude Future touched $139 per barrel on 7 February, the highest since 2008. But it again contracted at $116 per barrel on Wednesday.

Many were of the view that oil marketing companies may start hiking oil prices once the election in five states is over. "It (rising crude price) will certainly have an impact on the Indian economy. How much we are going to be prepared to take it as a challenge and mitigate the impact is something which we will have to see as we go (along)," said finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman at an interactive session organised by BJP's Karnataka unit in Bengaluru.

The government in November 2021 cut the excise duty on petrol and diesel by ₹5 and ₹10 respectively. Right now, the excise duty on petrol is ₹27.9 a litre and diesel ₹21.8 per litre.

Industry optimistic about Biden's order on cryptocurrency

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

MANY countries are now exploring government-backed digital currencies, and the latest one to explore possible uses of digital assets is the US government.

US President Joe Biden has signed an executive order to examine the risks as well as benefits of cryptocurrencies and also options of a US CBDC (Central Bank Digital Currency). The cryptocurrency industry has welcomed the move, as many countries including India have started working on a CBDC.

"Even though the US is a bit late to enter this list, it is quite a progressive move. Weighing the pros and cons of CBDCs would also be helpful further in framing regulations," said Edul Patel, CEO and Co-founder, Mudrex, a global crypto trading platform.

Many crypto platforms in India have been talking about the uses of cryptocurrencies in the payment ecosystem, and also the benefits of digital currencies.

Darshan Bathija, CEO and Co-Founder of Vault said that digital assets and digital assets companies working with the traditional banking sector will greatly help in this objective, as this could lower costs, increase security, and bring more efficiency to the financial services sector.

Crypto platforms and investors also look at Biden's approval of an executive order on crypto assets as the growing adoption of cryptocurrencies.

The US is aggressive to maintain the lead when it comes to tech, and is seeking like-minded partners globally to make it grow responsibly. India has the chance to be a part of this initiative and lead the next generation of innovation, something that the US is already targeting, said Vikram Subburaj, CEO, Giottus Crypto Exchange.

He added that consumer protection and illicit activity tracking are some of the other aspects that India can collaborate on and gain as a nation.

Exports from India hit $3 b on Amazon

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

OVER 1 lakh Indian exporters are now selling globally through Amazon's e-commerce exports programme 'Global Selling', and they have surpassed $3 billion in cumulative exports.

Amazon India on Thursday said that the number of sellers has grown 30% Y-o-Y since January 2020, and large number of sellers come from non-metros.

Delhi NCR, Jaipur, Mumbai, Surat, and Bengaluru are the top 5 cities with maximum exporters on the programme. Exporters are showcasing over 140 million Made in India products to Amazon customers in over 200 countries.

E-commerce exports or Direct to Customer (D2C) exports enables businesses to sell directly to customers globally. It helps them transcend boundaries and open a much larger pool of customers.

Abhijit Kamra, Director, Global Trade Amazon India said this cumulative export showcases the demand for Indian-made products across the globe. "We aim to enable $10 billion in e-commerce by 2025 and contribute to overall exports from India," he said.

The programme was started in 2015 with 100 exporters.

NINL, Tata Steel arm sign share-purchase pact

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE government on Thursday announced that Neelachal Ispat Nigam Ltd (NINL) and Tata Steel Long Products (TSLP) signed a share purchase agreement, taking the disinvestment transaction to the closing stage.

In a statement, the Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM) said that the company has executed the Share Purchase Agreement and Escrow Agreement (definitive agreements) for sale of its entire equity holding of 10.10% in NINL to TSLP. The successful bidder will be selected through the two-stage auction procedure involving a competitive bidding process, run under the aegis DIPAM.

"SPA signed today by JV partners of NINL with Tata Steel Long Products. The disinvestment transaction now moves to the closing stage," said DIPAM Secretary Tuhin Kanta Pandey in a tweet.

In January, Tata Steel arm accepted a letter of award (LoA) for the acquisition of a 93.7% stake in NINL for ₹12,100 crore. NINL is a joint venture of MMTC, NMDC, BHEL, MECON and 2 Odisha government PSUs - OMC and IPICOL. The government in January 2020 had approved strategic disinvestment of equity shareholding of MMTC (49.78%), NMDC (10.10%), MECON (0.68%), BHEL (0.68%), IPICOL (12.00%) and OMC (20.47%) in NINL. Addressing a webinar by the Merchants Chamber of Commerce and Industry (MCCI), Tuhin Pandey said the government has recently successfully privatised two organisations, Air India and NINL. He highlighted several privatisation transactions of the government are now in an advanced stage and Expressions of Interest (EoI) will be invited soon.

On LIC IPO, he mentioned that the DRHP has been filed already and is watching the market conditions due to the Russia-Ukraine conflict.

COMBINATION OVERSIGHT

Change at top & tactics backfire as India suffer big defeat against New Zealand in WC

GOMESH S @ Chennai

THE first surprise came at the toss when India skipper Mithali Raj said that Yastika Bhatia would replace Shafali Verma, their first-choice opener. It seemed like a panicked move. Even though Shafali was averaging just 16 across her last six ODIs, and went without scoring against Pakistan in the first game of the tournament, it looked like the team management pulled the trigger soon.

Though Shafali's last five scores read 0, 0, DNB, 9, 0 (including two unofficial games) and her ODI average is 21.66, she has hardly batted with her partner Smriti Mandhana (four times) in 2022. With Shafali, what stands out is the fact that India have often got off to a brisk start in the powerplay whenever she has played. To put things into context, in 12 ODI innings, the 18-year-old had been involved in six 40-plus opening partnerships.

While the change was at least understandable to an extent, the bigger shock that played into New Zealand's hands was the fact that they stacked up Yastika Bhatia, Mandhana and Deepti Sharma as the top three.

Now, often when teams bring on off-spin early in the innings against Mandhana, Shafali used to take them on to disturb their plans. On Thursday, however, both Yastika and Mandhana struggled to get going against Frances Mackay. With Jess Kerr keeping it tight from the other end, India managed to score just ten runs in five overs. And the pressure got to them as Mandhana hit one straight to the cover fielder. At this point, having seen what had happened, it would have made sense for Mithali Raj to come at three, but they persisted with Deepti, another southpaw, allowing the White Ferns to tighten the screws. Brought in as first change, Lea Tahuhu went around the wicket right away and struck Deepti's pads, beating her for pace. Mithali walked in at No 4, but India had already gone into a shell.

When Yastika got out to Tahuhu, India were hovering at 50 for three in 19.1 overs. But none of it happened by chance. New Zealand had done their homework and were executing their plans to perfection. Tahuhu said as much after the match. "There's always a lot of work going on behind the scenes, especially with the likes of Sophie (Devine), Suzie (Bates) and Amy (Satterthwaite), sort of, put their three wise heads together and then come up with some plans for us," she said.

With just a day to go ahead of their next match against West Indies, the Indian think-tank would want to take a hard look at their selections and game plan, especially playing three lefties at top against a team that has three top offies in Anisa Mohammad, Hayley Matthews and Stafanie Taylor. All said and done, India need not have to panic as they still have five games to go. They would want to keep the morale up and turn things around quickly.

Briefscores:

New Zealand 260/9 in 50 ovs (Army Satterthwaite 75; Vastrakar 4/31) bt India 198 all out in 46.4 ovs (Harmanpreet Kaur 7; Lea Tahuhu 3/17).

PSG IMplode, CITY CRUISE

Paris St Germain suffered yet another humiliating collapse on a big Champions League while Man City enjoyed serene progress. A look at Wednesday's matches...

REAL THROUGH 3-2

Real Madrid 3-1 PSG | First leg: PSG 0-1 Real

67

Benzema now has 67 goals for Real in the Champions League, becoming the second best for the side (surpasses Raul's tally of 66)

Oh dear, where do you even begin? Even after assembling one of the world's most exciting forward lines, the Parisians suffered another chastening night. And most of the credit should go to Real's Karim Benzema and Luka Modric, the two pillars of the La Liga giants. While the latter ran the show in the midfield, the former walked off with a hat-trick. The defeat, from a PSG perspective, opens further questions into whether Kylian Mbappe, who again scored the opener, will leave the club for Wednesday's opponents.

MAN CITY THROUGH 5-0

Man City 0-0 Sporting | First leg: Sporting 0-5 Man City

It's the second time that City failed to score a goal in a CL match this season (against PSG in second matchday)

To be honest, the advantage in the first leg meant this match was going to be largely academic. City weren't at their best, at some other point they decided to just wind down the clock rather than win the second leg too. And fair enough, considering they are still competing on multiple fronts and energy conservation is the name of the game.

Jamshedpur lock horns with Blasters in ISL

KOCHI: AT the start of the eighth edition of the ISL, very few would have predicted a semifinal showdown between Jamshedpur FC and Kerala Blasters. Fewer still would have tipped Jamshedpur to lift the ISL shield ahead of the star-studded teams like Mumbai City FC and ATK Mohun Bagan. Friday's semifinal encounter between the two sides is a testimony of the progress that these two have made and the rebuilding process undertaken by the two franchises behind the scenes during the off-season, writes Martin Joseph. India digging deep before pink-ball Test

India coach Rahul Dravid sending a throwdown during training in Bengaluru on Thursday as Virat Kohli (R) & Jasprit Bumrah (L) look on | ASHIM KRISHNA HP

ASHIM SUNAM @ Bengaluru

THERE is always something brave, bold and entertaining about Rishabh Pant when he walks onto bat for India, irrespective of the format. Even during India's practice session ahead of the second Test against Sri Lanka at the M Chinnaswamy Stadium in Bengaluru, starting Saturday, that element of his game was on display on Thursday.

Even when several of the Indian batters took throwdowns with visibly full protective gears, the wicket-keeper took some throwdowns without pads or helmet for more than 30 minutes. However, when the batter had to face regular bowlers at the nets, Pant with proper gear looked in solid control, playing his shots and showed good defenses too. He was one of the last main batters to come at the net. Before him, Rohit Sharma, Mayank Agarwal, Shreyas Iyer, Virat Kohli and others also had a hit under the newly installed unipole lights at the stadium.

The spinners including Axar Patel, who has joined the team for the pink ball Test, had a long bowling session. It was not a surprise considering they are expected to play an important role in the Bengaluru pitch.

Amongst the pacers, Mohammed Shami went through the drill from his usual run-up, but Jasprit Bumrah seemed to be taking it light, bowling from a very short run up most of the time.

At the end of the session, India coach Rahul Dravid gave some catching practice to the slip cordon including Kohli, Rohit, Mayank. They did not give a good account of themselves, dropping a number of catches, especially in the initial phase. That could be a real test for all these cricketers, who are not attuned to the pink ball. In fact, Kohli, in the past, has also spoken about the difficulty, referring to the pink ball to be a tad heavier as well.

Stadium can be full for second Test, says KSCA

Initially, the Karnataka State Cricket Association had allowed for 50 percent capacity, but has now increased it to full capacity. "Considering the high volume of response and since there are no further restrictions for spectators, KSCA will be opening up the sale of tickets for full capacity," read KSCA's statement. The additional capacity of the tickets will be made available via box office sale on Friday.

Aggressive campaign, divided Cong help BJP scale Himalayan state

VINEET UPADHYAY @ Dehradun

WITH the BJP winning 45 seats and leading on three seats out of the 70-strong Uttarakhand Assembly, a new record has been created in electoral history as this is the first time since the formation of the state that any party is retaining power.

The Congress secured 17 seats and was leading on two seats till 8.10pm on Thursday.

Chief Minister Pushkar Singh Dhami who lost his own Khatima seat announced that the new government will work on Uniform Civil Code. "The government will work on Uniform Civil Code for Uttarakhand as we promised earlier.

The people have given us a clear mandate and we will fulfil our promises," he said.

The factors which worked in favour of incumbent BJP are said to be infrastructure development amalgamated with religious tourism followed by various schemes, women-centric schemes and nationalism-based politics.

Jai Singh Rawat, Dehradun-based political analyst, said: "The BJP worked hard despite setbacks in the form of change of their two CMs within the time span of four months. Their central leadership campaigned aggressively and the workers reached out to the people with a mission."

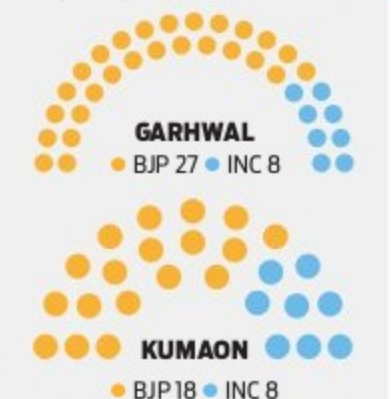

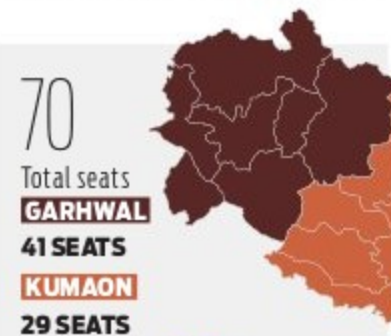

Political experts pointed out Congress leaders, including former CM and senior party leader Harish Rawat, failed to gauge the political mood in the state.

Dinesh Mansera, a political commentator based in Haldwani, said: "Congress leaders failed to gauge the mood of the public and just relied on inflation, Covid mismanagement, fuel price rise and problems such as unemployment. These issues are genuine but the BJP has carved out a new brand which is Modi. The Congress has no answer against Modi's charisma. This election has proved that."

The Char Dham development projects initiated by the Centre also helped the incumbent government to sail through the feeling of anti-incumbency among the voters. Many also blamed factionalism in the Congress.

Women voters likely to have played a key role in bringing the saffron party back to power. The state government launched 'Ghasiyari Yojana' last year as flagship scheme for women of the hilly region to provide them respite from hours of trekking to get fodder for the cattle.

Tanuja Joshi, an activist based in Nainital said, "Women have been beneficiaries of free ration distribution, infrastructure building and health schemes. This seemed to have made them vote for the ruling party."

Three went to others; results in only 64 seats declared yet

AT A GLANCE

Owaisi's party fails to mark presence

Asaduddin Owaisi's AIMIM bagged just 0.43 per cent votes in Uttar Pradesh. Most of its candidates were not able to cross the 5,000-mark. In 2017, Owaisi's party had contested on 38 seats and in 37, its candidates forfeited their deposits. Qamar Kamal in Azamgarh got 1,368 votes and Umair Madni in Deoband got 3,145 votes.

Sena gets fewer votes than NOTA

The Shiv Sena bagged less votes than the ones which went to NOTA in Goa, Uttar Pradesh and Manipur. In Goa, the Sena had fielded candidates in 10 seats and all lost deposit. NOTA option secured 1.12% of total votes polled in Goa, while the Sena bagged a mere 0.18%. In Manipur, the Shiv Sena contested six seats. The NOTA secured 0.54% in the state while the Sena bagged 0.34%.

National party status still away for AAP

The Aam Aadmi Party which won the Assembly elections in Punjab needs to perform well in the next set of assembly polls, likely to be held either later this year or early 2023, to become a claimant for National Party status. A party needs State Party status in four states to automatically become a national party, a former Election Commission official said on Thursday.

MANIPUR

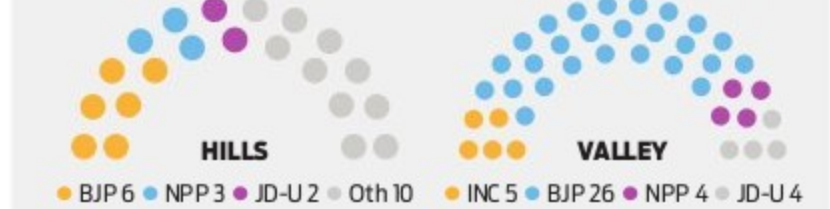

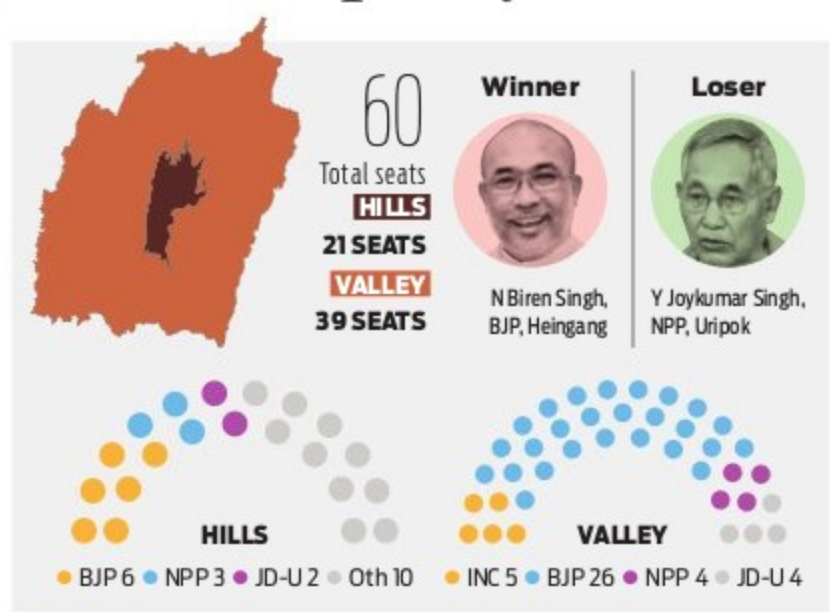

In majority, saffron party to dump its problematic ally

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

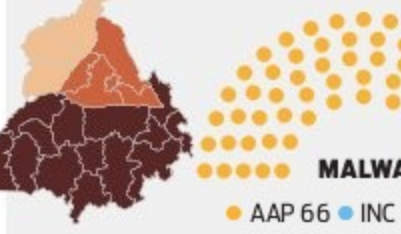

THE BJP will maintain 'coalition dharma' in Manipur despite being comfortably placed to form the government on its own.

By winning 32 of the state's 60 seats, the BJP became the second party after the Congress to get majority in an Assembly election since 1950 when Manipur became a state of the Indian Union. The Congress had bagged 42 seats in 2012.

Chief Minister N Biren Singh said in no uncertain terms that the BJP would align

PUNJAB

For the first time, Punjab voters shun traditional parties Congress and Akali for third alternative

AAP JUGGERNAUT CLOUDS BADALS

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE decades-long rule by traditional parties Congress and Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) in Punjab has come to an end with the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) sweeping the Assembly election on Thursday. It is for the first time since its reorganisation in 1966 that a third party is coming to power in the border state. Also, the voters' urge for change seems to have been so strong that they have given such an emphatic victory to the Arvind Kejriwal-led party.

The Congress government in the state had been accused of being hand in glove with the SAD due to its soft-peddalling on charges against the Badals. Also, the delay on part of the government in taking action over numerous sacrilege cases during the SAD rule led to the perception that both Congress and Akalis are two sides of the same coin. Besides, the issues of drugs and mafia raj, too, played a major role in turning the tide in favour of the AAP.

In a first, no member from the Badal family has made it to the Assembly in this election.

The AAP received a groundswell of support from youth and women as AAP supremo Arvind Kejriwal's promise of rooting out corruption, creating job opportunities and giving women ₹1,000 per month worked. Also, the Delhi Model seems to have resonated with voters as AAP has promised quality government education, health, power and water at cheaper rates.

The announcement of Bhagwant Mann as the CM face helped the AAP get rid of the 'outsider tag' that rivals had given it. The verdict confirms that the internal rift in the Congress — which led to the unceremonious exit of Capt Amarinder Singh at the end of his tenure and then the subsequent fight between CM Charanjit Singh Channi and PCC chief Navjot Singh Sidhu — didn't go well with the voters.

"People across caste, class and regions voted for change as the traditional parties failed to meet their aspirations. It is the beginning of a new era as a regional party of other state has taken over reigns of Punjab," say political analysts Prof Jagrup Singh Sekhon and Dhar-minder Singh Rataul.

Political analyst Prof Kuldeep Singh says: "It is vote for change and against misgovernance. But the tasks ahead will not be easy since all these issues are quite complex."

Bhagwant Singh Mann has said his first act as CM will be to provide jobs and his government will come to people's doorsteps. "You have fulfilled your responsibility very well, now it is my turn to fulfill the responsibility," he says.

BJP in Goa steps out of Parrikar's shadow

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE BJP scored a hat-trick in Goa by winning 20 seats out of the 40 in the Assembly election. The magic figure to form government is 21.

Three independent candidates have extended their support to the BJP. BJP's Goa in-charge Devendra Fadnis claimed the party has got support letter from Maharashtra's Gomantak Party which has two MLAs. "We currently have the support of a total of 25 MLAs and many more may support us during the floor test," he said.

The 2022 election was the first that the BJP fought in the absence of Manohar Parrikar. In Goa, it was often
